and Alzheimer's disease

Abstract

In this Ex seminar, I will talk about my career track in an informal way. I would like to share what difficulties I have faced in my career, what advice I have received from my mentors, and how I have conducted my research based on my ideas, in the hope that this will be of some help to the younger generation. In the latter half of the session, we will discuss "how to succeed as a researcher." I hope that this will help ease concerns you may have about building your own scientific careers.
